

U. S. OPEN DOOR TO REFUGEES URGED

MEXICO FIRES
OPENING GUN
AT U. N. VETOASSEMBLY IS URGED TO PUT BAN ON FRANCO SPAIN

BY FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
New York, Oct. 24 (AP)—Warned that it was in danger of becoming a "complete laughing stock" by its legalistic wrangles, the powerful steering committee of the United Nations assembly decided tonight to recommend that the assembly consider India's charges that South Africa is discriminating against its Indian citizens.

In effect, the result of the 2½ hour argument which involved Russia, the United States and the United Kingdom was that the committee put the question up to the assembly and let that body decide what to do with it.

The issue arose when South Africa demanded that the steering committee block India's charges from going before the assembly. South African Delegate Jan Christian Smuts withdrew this demand but continued to insist that the welfare of the Indians living in his country is a strictly domestic issue. He agreed, however, that the assembly itself would have to rule on whether he was right.

Earlier the Spanish question and the battle of the veto arose in general assembly discussion.

Field Marshal Jan C. Smuts raised the issue when the assembly's steering committee met to take up the agenda after hearing Mexico fire the opening gun against the big veto power in the first general debate in New York among delegates of 51 nations gathered to attack the world's problems.

The South African prime minister told the committee the complaint referred to nationals of Indian extraction and that the assembly could not consider it under a charter barring U. N. action on internal affairs of any country.

Long Argument Ahead
As the committee plunged into a detailed discussion, Smuts pointed out that if this procedure was upheld, any minority in any country could bring a complaint against its government.

The steering committee then settled down for a long argument on this and other problems on the 53-point proposed agenda.

Whatever the committee does, however, will not prevent the assembly hearing the case. India's chief delegate, Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit, declared tonight she would discuss it when her turn comes in the general debate after 3 p. m. C. S. T. tomorrow.

Meanwhile, Secretary General Trygve Lie, mindful of the bitter debates among the great powers on the Spanish question, called upon the assembly to take a stand against Generalissimo Franco to remove what Lie suggested was a serious obstacle to the smooth progress of the United Nations.

Immediately after Lie's oral report to the assembly, Mexico led off the general debate with a strong demand for elimination or modification of the veto powers of the five permanent members of the United Nations security council. Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera, Mexican foreign minister and chief delegate, declared the veto harmful to the unity of the United Nations.

Regime Causes Distrust
Lie in his statement, which was a supplement to his written report covering activities up to August 1, said the assembly "can do a valuable service by giving comprehensive guidance to the organs and member states of the United Nations, regarding their relationship with the Franco regime."

He referred to the resolution adopted last winter in London by the assembly condemning Franco and said:

"It seems to be clear that as long as the Franco regime remains in Spain, it will remain a constant

Federal Spending Goes
$165,000,000 Over Limit

BY MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

Washington, Oct. 24 (AP)—President Truman announced tonight that federal spending for civilian public works this fiscal year will exceed the $900,000,000 limit he set last August by $165,000,000.

Mr. Truman's statement also said that no further military spending cutbacks "are under consideration at this time."

The president recalled that in August the overall federal public works program had been cut from $1,600,000,000 to $900,000,000 requiring a saving of $700,000,000.

He said further study of this program by Reconversion Director John R. Steelman and Budget Director James E. Webb "has indicated the necessity for increasing the expenditure limitation for the war department corps of engineers from $95,000,000 to $130,000,000, with an additional limited provision for new projects approved (by Steelman) and for the department of interior reclamation program from $85,000,000 to $110,000,000."

These increases previously had been announced by the budget bureau.

Mr. Truman said that these hikes, together with an increase of $13,000,000 for the Tennessee Valley Authority and $5,000,000 for the agriculture department, "are the only increases in the expenditure limitation on federal construction projects which have been authorized to date."

He added that "were it not for increases in programs over which I have no authority to place limitations, a saving of $620,000,000 would be made good."

This compares with an original goal of $700,000,000.

"In those programs on which I could not impose a limitation, such as public roads grants and rural electrification loans, current expenditure estimates are up $95,000,000," Mr. Truman said.

"Despite these unavoidable revisions, our savings on non-military public works will be $535,000,000 below the January budget estimates."

The general aim is to reduce controls to the minimum before the new congress convenes in January.

Some congressmen and candidates of both parties have threatened to kill off OPA. Administration leaders hope to maintain ceilings on rents, automobiles, building material, some basic low-cost clothing, many durable goods, and scarce items such as sugar and soap.

MORE CEILINGS

Next In Line For OPA
Sweeping Decontrol

BY EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

Washington, Oct. 24 (AP)—Another major amputation of price controls—this time in the non-food field—was under way today within the OPA.

One informed official who would not permit use of his name said it is expected to match the action of last midnight which yanked price lids from all foods and drinks except sugar, syrups and rice.

"We are trying to round out all these actions for announcement by Nov. 1 or before but it's a big job and we may not hit that deadline," he said.

The announcement is expected before the Nov. 5 elections. It will be another step in the decontrol process President Truman speeded up when he removed price ceilings from meats and livestock.

The general aim is to reduce controls to the minimum before the new congress convenes in January.

EARLY ENDING OF MARITIME
TIEUP HINTEDSHIPPING DISPUTE
BELIEVED NEAR

(By The Associated Press)

Prospects for an early settlement of the shipping strike appeared brighter Thursday and the government renewed efforts to mediate a wage dispute which has grounded planes of Trans World Airlines.

An implied threat of a new soft coal strike, however, still loomed large as President Truman refused to let himself be drawn into the dispute at this stage.

There were two hopeful signs foreshadowing a break in the 24 day old Maritime strike which has bottled up shipping on all coasts.

Members of the CIO Marine Engineers Beneficial Association in New York voted overwhelmingly to accept an agreement their union leaders reached earlier with East and Gulf coast operators, and a spokesman for the other striking union involved, the AFL Masters, Mates and Pilots, expressed hope for an early settlement of that dispute.

Capt. William C. Ash, co-chairman of the MMP, which is engaged in negotiations with ship owners in New York, hinted a compromise might be reached on the principal issue of preferential hiring of masters.

Settlement of the AFL dispute is a requisite to a resumption of shipping operations, as CIO leaders have pledged to respect AFL picket lines, even if they ratify their own agreement.

In Washington, the National Mediation Board opened parleys aimed at settling the wage dispute between Trans World Airlines and the AFL Air Lines Pilots Association. The four days strike of 1,400 pilots has thrown an additional 15,000 Airline employees out of work.

The Airline company said "nearly 15,000" of its furloughed employees offered Thursday to work without pay until the strike was settled, but that they had been turned down. President Jack Frye, expressing gratitude "for their loyalty," said "we don't believe it is fair for them to work unless we can pay them."

President Truman told his news conference the new soft coal dispute was in the hands of Secretary of Interior Krug and refused to discuss the subject further. John L. Lewis has threatened to call his 400,000 miners out unless the government reopens negotiations on wages and hours by Nov. 1.

Other labor developments: The Ford Motor company, reporting a "continuing critical shortage of steel" said virtually all its automobile and truck assembly operations would be halted from Thursday midnight until Monday. The company said the shortage was aggravated by a recent strike in the Ford Open Hearth Furnaces at Dearborn.

With nearly a score of Pennsylvania breweries already closed, start of a statewide strike of AFL brewery workers awaited only formal approval of union leaders. Business agents of 56 AFL teamster union locals sought such action as a step in a jurisdictional fight with the CIO United Brewery Workers.

A spokesman for the coal mines administration at Ashland, Ky., reported that three of five strikes in the state had resumed operations and that the other two were expected to follow suit. A transfer of employees from one mine to another led to the strike, the company said.

Markets Clean Up
Glut Of Livestock;
Hog Prices Higher

Chicago, Oct. 24 (AP)—Livestock receipts generally were down and prices up today as terminal markets throughout the nation cleaned up the week-long glut of price ceilings.

Most embargoes against further receipts had been lifted from markets where they had been in effect and the trade was expecting higher receipts by next week.

Hog prices were up as much as $1.50 a hundred pounds in trading at Chicago and from 50 cents to $1.00 higher at Omaha, South St. Paul and Indianapolis. Cattle were $1 higher at St. Louis. At Chicago good and choice steers were $36 for top loads, or 50 cents below the slaughter record set Wednesday. Lighter lambs were up $1 to $1.25 in the late Chicago market.

Coal Crisis May Push Truman Into Ballot CampaignBY D. HAROLD OLIVER AND
HAROLD W. WARD

Washington, Oct. 24 (AP)—President Truman refused today to be drawn into an immediate showdown with John L. Lewis, but political aides speculated that the coal crisis may yet prompt him to plunge into the current election campaign at the eleventh hour.

At a news conference, the president had no comment on Lewis' implied threat of a walkout by his 400,000 soft coal miners on Nov. 1—four days before the Congressional elections. Mr. Truman said the matter was being handled by Secretary of Interior Krug, boss of the government seized mines.

In response to other questions, the president did not close the door to active participation in the political wars, merely reiterating that he had no speaking plans at this time.

Democratic leaders, who cannot be named, told reporters later that the question whether the chief executive will do any campaign speaking depends on developments within the next four or five days.

They did not elaborate on this, but politicians expressed belief that if the coal crisis continues, the president may decide to take the stump.

The strike threat, it was agreed, poses a difficult political problem. In addition to its possible effect on consumers, there is the question of whether the vote may sway miners' votes. The miners, politicians said, could swing many a close race in coal-producing states, especially West Virginia and Kentucky, where hot Senatorial as well as House contests are being fought.

Meanwhile, other Democrats were busy figuring how the election may go. Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), defeated for renomination, told newsmen after a conference with the president that "there is a Republican trend" in the far west and that Congressional races will be "close all through the west."

He added, however, that the Democrats in Montana, Washington and California should win on the basis of present registrations.

"The big silent vote," he said, "will hold the answer to these elections, and no one can tell what is going to happen. A lot of people are not talking."

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), on the other hand, said a nationwide tour has convinced him that the Democrats will retain control of Congress "by a good margin," although he spoke of "defeatism" among Democrats.

Churchill Sees Soviet Menace
Over 2,000,000 On War Footing In Europe, Britain Warned

London, Oct. 24 (AP)—Winston Churchill said tonight that he had "facts" and "evidence" to support his suggestion that the Soviet Union had 2,000,000 men—more than 2,000,000 men—on a war footing in Soviet-occupied Europe.

Addressing his constituents in suburban Loughton, Churchill described his speech in the House of Commons yesterday as "a serious warning," and added dramatically:

"I did not ask the question (regarding Russian forces) without weighing very carefully the whole matter and without consulting others, my friends and colleagues, and laying before them the evidence on which I proceeded."

"Nor did I ask the question without informing the government beforehand of my intentions, but you can take it from me that the facts I adduced are correct."

Churchill praised Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin as "a sort of working class John Bull who has maintained continuity of policy in foreign affairs to a considerable extent," and lauded Prime Minister Clement Attlee's speech at Brighton today.

"The fact that the British government have decisively broken with the Communists and are fronted against them, although it does not immediately affect the course of affairs in this island," he said, "has an important beneficial result abroad, because there are countries on the continent—like France—quivering under the Communist attack."

Boy, 18, Gets Life In Fatal Beating Of Retired Farmer

Adrian, Mich., Oct. 24 (AP)—A life sentence for murder, to run consecutively with a 30 to 40 year prison term he already is serving, was imposed today on Russell Mansfield, 18, by Judge C. Arthur Rathbun in Lenawee circuit court.

The youth was convicted Wednesday, by a jury which deliberated only 21 minutes, of fatally beating Charles Plummer, 74, retired farmer, during an attempted robbery at Morenci last May 31.

The prior sentence was for raping Plummer's 67-year-old housekeeper, a key witness in the murder trial, during the holdup.

Mansfield, acting as his own attorney, had admitted freely during the trial that he struck the aged farmer but maintained Plummer first sought to hit him with a chair.

WEIGHT TAX RETURNED
Lansing, Oct. 24 (AP)—Third quarter weight tax receipts totaling $4,693,103 will be returned to Michigan counties and cities for use on local roads and streets, Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler said today.

The returns included: Kent county, $184,955; Delta county, $28,134; and Wayne, $1,236,898.

TRIBUTE PAID TO ESTONIANS
BY PRESIDENTWHITE HOUSE SEEKS TO SAVE 48 FROM DEPORTATION

BY ALEX H. SINGLETON

Washington, Oct. 24 (AP)—President Truman, calling anew for the United States to admit more European political refugees, personally intervened today to prevent deportation of 48 freedom-loving Estonians who crossed the Atlantic in small, open boats.

In a statement expressing admiration for the "courage and determination" of the Estonians, whose country has been taken over by Russia, Mr. Truman said: "This is the type of pioneering spirit that built this nation."

He directed the state department to "explore all avenues toward enabling this group to remain here."

Eviction Order Halted
His order was issued a few hours after Attorney General Clark halted—at least temporarily—an immigration order which gave 18 of the Estonians a choice between leaving this country or being deported.

This group landed at Miami, Fla., on Aug. 31. Since then others have arrived at Miami and Norfolk, Va.

Just what the state department could do to help the Estonians remained undetermined immediately. The immigration regulations were put in force when it was discovered that the Estonians had not obtained entrance visas because of over-subscription of the Estonian immigration quota.

The president earlier in the day called for a lowering of immigration bars, to the extent that some of Europe's political refugees can find sanctuary here.

Flight Gets Sympathy
He raised the possibility of congressional action next year in agreeing, in a news conference discussion, that present immigration quotas can only be changed by congress.

Last August, Mr. Truman proposed in a statement on Palestine that a "fixed number" of displaced Europeans be admitted to this country. This brought a counterproposal by Rep. Gossett (D-Tex.) that Congress instead cut present quotas by half as soon as it reconvened.

Administration sympathy for refugees was demonstrated as Attorney General Tom Clark halted today—at least temporarily—an immigration order which gave a small band of Estonians a choice between leaving this country or being deported.

The stop order came as the 18 Estonians were preparing to leave Miami, Fla., the haven into which they put after sailing 6,000 miles in an ancient 36-foot sloop.

Their plight was raised at the chief executive's news conference with a query on the apparent divergence between the immigration office's attitude and the standing state department position against forcible deportation of political refugees.

IKE MENTIONED
AS AMBASSADORRumor Says Eisenhower
Will Go To London,
Let Bradley In

Washington, Oct. 24 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who has been mentioned as a possible new ambassador to London, today discussed a report that Gen. Omar N. Bradley might succeed him as army chief of staff—but quickly emphasized that he wasn't making any predictions.

Eisenhower's four-year term as chief of staff is due to expire until Nov. 19, 1949, but there have been rumors among army men that he might be named ambassador to the court of St. James's to succeed W. Averell Harriman, recently made secretary of commerce.

Bradley is now veterans administrator, under an appointment expected to be temporary.

"I suppose you want to know the answer to the question that has been asked me by many others—When are you going to get out and let Gen. Bradley take over as chief of staff?" Eisenhower volunteered to his news conference.

"While I consider Gen. Bradley to be one of the greatest soldiers the army ever produced, he was put on his present job by the president. I understand there are definite limitations on his service, and don't know when he can be spared from that job. What will be done is beyond my ken."

Later Maj. Gen. Floyd L. Parks, war department public relations chief, said Eisenhower authorized him to make clear that Eisenhower did not mean to imply he expects Bradley to succeed him. If Eisenhower continues in service, his successor would be named by the president elected in 1948.

SOO HILL GIRL CHOSEN QUEEN

Harriet Vanderlinden Is Delta County Potato Show Queen

Miss Harriet Vanderlinden, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Vanderlinden of Soo Hill, Wells township, last night was announced as queen of the Delta County Potato Show at a dancing party at Cornell township hall, climaxing yesterday's Potato Show program.

Miss Vanderlinden, a petite brunette, attends Escanaba high school, is an active 4-H Club member with particular interest in gardening and canning projects. Last night at Cornell she wore a black dress trimmed in red, and a small red ribbon bow ornamented her brown hair. Miss Vanderlinden will go to Iron River next week to compete for the title of U. P. Potato Show queen.

Harry Gruber of Escanaba presented the eight contestants from eight townships in the county, and announced the queen selection. The "queen's court" was composed of the following young women:

Leola Lencour, Masonville; Rose Bradley, Cornell; Mary Lou Skradski, Escanaba; Dorothy DeBacker, Maple Ridge; Elaine Dahl, Bark River; Marcella LaFontaine, Ford River; and Betty Jane Johnson, Baldwin.

George Grenholm, Escanaba recreation director, was master of ceremonies at the program, and E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent, introduced Prof. Layton Nelson of Michigan State College, who announced the winners in the seventh annual Escanaba Potato Boosters association contest.

Starting at 9 o'clock dancing was enjoyed to the music of Forest Ames orchestra, whose appearance was sponsored by winners of the potato growing contest. About 350 persons attended the event.

Republicans Pledged To Take Government Out Of People's Hair

Providence, R. I., Oct. 24. (AP)—Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, House minority leader, declared tonight the Republicans will be ready with "an affirmative legislative program" when the new Congress organizes under what he confidently predicted would be Republican control in both houses.

"The mandate which I am convinced will be given us Nov. 5 will be courageously discharged and quickly," he said in a (Mutual) radio address.

Martin, who is slated for the speakership if the Republicans win House control, said the Republicans have been preparing for a long time to take over the House leadership and to "take the government out of the people's hair and put it back into their hands where it belongs."

He outlined 13 subjects which would be covered in their legislative and investigation programs. The first one he listed was to "terminate how fast this nation of ours can be returned to a peace-time basis."

So confident did Martin express himself over a GOP victory that he announced plans for Republican conferences here before Congress opens Jan. 3.

He said the Republican steering committee will meet in Washington Nov. 18. This group will schedule meetings from then until Nov. 30 of the various GOP house study committees which, Martin said, had been looking into:

"The constantly growing problems of the political monopoly at Washington; the sprawling, overgrown bureaucracy; the rising tide of taxes; the problems which will confront agriculture when the war stimulus is worn off; the shortage of food and similar problems."

New Goods Stored In Car Shortage, ODT Chief Reports

Washington, Oct. 24. (AP)—Director J. Monroe Johnson of the Office of Defense Transportation declared tonight that industry is holding up production of 100,000 carloads of goods per week because of the railroad freight car shortage, which he predicted will continue "indefinitely."

In addition, Johnson said in a statement, 64,000 carloads of products are being routed each week to storage because they can not be moved to market.

Johnson estimated that railroads are transporting only 85 per cent of the freight that would be offered if cars were available. He set the "potential demand for cars now at about 1,096,000 a week."

"We won't catch up with this backlog until about next March," Johnson said, "and by that time we'll begin going behind again."

Military Tribunals Organized To Try Hundreds Of Nazis

Berlin, Oct. 24. (AP)—American military tribunals are being organized in the United States zone to try hundreds of major Nazi war leaders, doctors, industrialists, diplomats, SS officers and Hitlerite judges in a series of proceedings expected to last through 1947, it was disclosed today.

The first of the new trials, against 24 German doctors who may be accused of performing guinea pig experiments in concentration camps and killing thousands of persons, will start at Nuremberg next month in the same courtroom where Hermann

Falkies And VanDamme Potato Contest 'Kings'

Jules VanDamme, St. Nicholas, and Fulgenz Falkies and son of Cornell, last night were announced as top place winners in the tablestock and certified divisions, respectively, of the 1946 Escanaba Potato Boosters Association contest.

The announcements were made at Cornell, where the 7th annual Delta County Potato Show was climaxed by a dancing party at which the names of the contest winners were announced and awards totaling $595 were distributed. The contest winners are determined on a basis of points, which are won by following recommended practices in potato planting, spraying and other care, and also for yield.

Falkies and son won the certified potato growing contest with a total of 1139 1/2 points, and a yield of 619 bushels to the acre, the highest of any grower in the county this year. This year Delta county leads the state in the number of certified growers with a total of 31. Twenty of the 31 growers placed in the contest and received a total of $290 in prize money. The awards ranged from $5 to $75.

Tons Of Sugar Are Held Up On Ships Tied Up In Strike

New York, Oct. 24. (AP)—Floating on the quiet strike-bound waters of eastern harbors today were tons of sugar, thousands of cases of Scotch and champagne, tons of rubber, cocoa and coffee, thousands of bales of burlap and countless other items consumers want.

As the maritime tieup neared the end of its fourth week, in New York harbor alone 246 ships were reported by U. S. customs authorities. In addition, New York docks were piled high with commodities in short supply—goods unloaded before the crippling maritime strike, but unremoved because of New York's own trucking strike.

Sugar was the most conspicuously absent item on grocer's shelves. Sugar brokers estimated perhaps 100,000,000 pounds of raw sugar was held up in New York harbor by the strike.

CANT HOUSE FARMERS East Lansing, Oct. 24. (AP)—Farmers' Week has definitely been cancelled because of the shortage of housing and meeting facilities on the Michigan State College campus, Dean E. L. Anthony of the school of agriculture announced today.

Goering and his 21 co-defendants were tried.

Top German industrialists, diplomats and other defendants are expected to follow the doctors in the dock in quick succession and, once the tribunals begin functioning, as many as five may be in session at once in the Nuremberg palace of justice.

Quality Is High
In the tablestock division of the contest VanDamme won with a total of 1176 5/12 points, and a yield of 443. While his yield per acre was not the highest in the tablestock division, his adherence to recommended practices gave him the winning number of points.

Twenty-two of the county's tablestock potato growers placed in the contest and received a total of $305 in awards. As in the certified division, the awards ranged from $5 to $75.

The exhibits were judged by Prof. Layton Nelson of the potato department of Michigan State College, who said the quality of Delta county tubers this year was high. Because of the short growing season, which was interrupted by the Labor Day freeze, yields were below what they might have been, and no new records were established to take from Emil DeBacker, St. Nicholas grower, his all-state high record of 715 bushels to an acre in 1944.

The winners in the certified and tablestock divisions for 1946 are as follows:

cause of mistrust and disagreement between the founders of the United Nations.

As Lie spoke, the Cuban delegate to the assembly, Guillermo Belt, issued an off-the-floor-challenge to Soviet Russia to a last-ditch battle on the veto question.

Belt has submitted two proposals looking toward revising the U. N. charter to eliminate the veto right of the five great powers in the security council. Noting reports that Russia would try to keep the Cuban proposals off the agenda by stifling them in the general committee, Belt said he was confident the committee would recommend inclusion of those proposals.

Negro Seeks Public Office In Georgia; Ruled Ineligible

Atlanta, Oct. 24. (AP)—Aurelius Southall Scott, 47, believed to be the first negro to seek public office in Georgia since the reconstruction, was declared ineligible today as candidate for coroner of Fulton county (Atlanta) for failure to meet residence requirements.

County Ordinary (clerk) Eugene Gunby, after a two-hour hearing, sustained a challenge by George M. Kirkland, one of 22 white candidates for the same office, who claimed Scott had been a resident of Birmingham until 1945, and had not met Georgia's two-year rule.

The order, striking Scott from the general election ballot, ended two weeks of political turmoil in which the county Democratic executive committee voted to request the negro's withdrawal and then rescinded its action in fear of federal prosecution of civil liberties.

WHITE HOUSE HAS HAM

Balky Key Witness Upheld By Judge In Liquor Fixing Case

Detroit, Oct. 24. (AP)—Proceedings in the grand jury's liquor-fixing conspiracy case were halted today by the court-sponsored refusal of key witness Herman (Turk) Prujansky to testify.

Presiding Judge Gerald W. Groat, hearing the examination of James R. Hoffa, Orrin A. DeMass and James R. Stewart, adjourned the case for 90 days with Prujansky adamant in balking at answering prosecution questions. The former Detroit bar operator, alleged victim of a conspiracy to collect $3,000 for a "fix" of a state complaint against his establishment, evaded questioning on grounds of possible self-incrimination in federal court.

Prujansky, brought here from California at the grand jury's behest, awaits disposition of a fugitive witness charge brought against him by the government. The FBI arrested him on that count.

Upholding Prujansky's claim, Judge Groat used the decision of Circuit Judge Chester P. O'Hara in the Hemans case as a precedent. Judge Groat, finding the "same situation" prevailed in both instances, ruled the witness need not answer questions which might "tend to incriminate him."

Wife Slain, Spouse Proposes To Sister On Day Of Funeral

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 24. (AP)—A 21-year-old girl testified today that her brother-in-law, a former Lansing police officer, proposed marriage to her two days after her sister was shot to death.

Miss Mary Anthony's declaration came during the municipal court examination of the ex-patrolman Clayton Smith, 25, accused of the slaying of his wife, Roxanne, 21, at their home Aug. 22.

The witness declared that Smith proposed to her in the yard of his home as they were preparing to drive to the funeral home where the wife's body was sent.

"He asked me if I would marry him and I said 'you have two children'. He said 'I have a ready-made family,'" she told the court. Miss Anthony said she rejected the proposal.

Continuing her testimony, the witness said that on the day of the funeral Smith again proposed and was rebuffed. The day after, she added, Smith asked her to go for a ride "and go out and park and make mad love" but that she refused.

If salt is included in their diet, cattle will gain weight faster.

TRIBUTE PAID TO ESTONIANS BY PRESIDENT

into the details of this particular group, Mr. Truman reminded the newsmen that only yesterday, in addressing the United Nations assembly, he advocated that something be done to take care of political refugees.

In that speech, he urged speedy creation of an international refugee organization to take over from UNRRA the task of caring for, repatriating and resettling the war-uprooted persons of Europe.

Most of these come from Poland, Czechoslovakia and the Balkans.

The president said that he was sorry for the Estonians and expressed hope that some way could be found to give them refuge.

A reporter suggested that this would require action by congress. The chief executive agreed.

It was apparent, however, that he had in mind the broad problems of the tens of thousands of refugees, rather than those of the particular Estonian group at Miami.

And, from his remarks at the U. N. assembly and at his news conference it appeared likely, too, that revision of the immigration law—for emergency purposes—would be placed high on the administration's agenda for the next session of congress.

BABY SUFFOCATES

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 24. (AP)—Three-month-old Terrence Lees suffocated today when he became entangled in the clothing on a temporary bed which his mother, Mrs. Harold Lees of Toledo, had prepared for him in the bathtub of an uncle's house.

Coroner Sid Pulling said there would be no inquest.

First Move Taken Toward Unification Of Army And Navy

Washington, Oct. 24. (AP)—In a move toward unification of the armed forces, President Truman has vested final authority over army and navy purchasing in a civilian, Richard R. Deupree, executive chairman of the army and navy munitions board.

Deupree, president of Proctor & Gamble Co., disclosed the order today in Cincinnati, saying it has been in effect since Oct. 15. There was no official comment from the White House or the war and navy departments, but some officials said privately the action represented a step toward unifying the services.

The munitions board was established by the war and navy departments in 1922, and was made directly responsible to the president in 1939. Originally it was charged with harmonizing army and navy procurement of war materials only. But its scope now has been broadened to cover all the materials which both services use.

OPA Should Quit

THE removal of price controls from all foods and beverages except sugar, syrup and rice, announced yesterday by the Office of Price Administration, may well be the forerunner of dissolution of the OPA itself. The first result should be the closing of the thousands of OPA local boards still in operation throughout the country.

There no longer can be any point in maintaining OPA staffs on local levels just to police the regulations still existing on a mere handful of commodities.

The action of the OPA in removing restraints on all foods and beverages is a natural and logical result of the recent decontrol of meats and livestock and the earlier decision to keep dairy products on the decontrol list. Since these commodities constitute a substantial part of the nation's food needs, it was obvious that it would be impractical to try to retain price control on the remaining food commodities.

Price control will probably remain on sugar and syrups as long as sugar is under rationing. It is to be hoped that the sugar muddle will be cleared up soon and that this basic commodity can soon be decontrolled. Unless it is cleared up soon, the public may well suspect that the OPA bosses want the sugar shortage to continue merely to justify their existence of their jobs.

If the OPA folded up right now, sugar shortage and all, we probably would be no worse off than we are and there is a chance that the situation would improve faster.

New Ford Policy

SOME of Henry Ford's pet ideas have been going into the discard since his grandson, Henry Ford II, took charge of the affairs of the vast industrial empire.

Henry Ford II has adopted as the new company policy the discontinuance of all schemes that have no direct relation to the manufacture of motor vehicles. The change soon made itself evident when the Ford-supported school at Alberta, model sawmill village, was closed and the children sent to the public schools at L'Anse.

The elder Ford has been a firm believer in the idea of linking agriculture with industry. A quarter of a century ago, he fostered the establishment of the so-called Ford village industries in a score of rural communities surrounding Detroit. There, the Ford workers were able to work in the factories and enjoy a country life.

This week, announcement was made that the Ford Motor plant had sold its soybean processing plant at Saline to Soybrands, Inc. This was another of the village industries. Soybeans were processed there for the eventual manufacture of plastic products. Apparently, Ford is going out of the soybean business for another processing mill at River Rouge is being converted to other uses.

The elder Ford also harnessed small streams to provide power to operate his village industries, but these are also being disposed of by the company. The aged auto magnate pioneered in the field of industrial decentralization, and it seems strange that his company would reverse his policy when other large corporations are now swinging over to this idea.

Air Traffic Problems

A COMMITTEE of city, state and government members has evolved an airport-system plan for the New York City area which has been hailed as a hopeful step toward relieving present air traffic congestion there. This may be the beginning of a general study and planning movement by other cities along the same lines. At least one may hope that it is.

New York's problem differs from that of other important air terminal cities, but in degree rather than in kind. Airports and facilities have grown in a rather hit-or-miss fashion throughout America. Today, with the rapid expansion of air travel, there is also a growing volume of air travelers' complaints.

These complaints are directed both at airlines and airports. Among them are objections to confusion in reservations, long distances between business district and airport, unnecessary delays on arrival and departure, crowded, uncomfortable and inconvenient waiting rooms, and dangerous and time-consuming "stocking up" of planes above a field because of traffic congestion or weather conditions.

Speed and, to a lessening extent, novelty have sold Americans on air travel. But greater safety, comfort, convenience and courtesy must be forthcoming quickly if the air age with its potential benefits is to live up to its promise. An earnest and intensive effort by all metropolitan air centers to improve their port facilities would speed the achievement of these necessary goals.

Soil Erosion Menace

THE United States has destroyed a hundred million acres of once fertile land and is now going ahead blindly wastin more of it, Chester C. Davis, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, declared in an address at a recent convention of the Friends of the Land in Omaha.

While we fear the menace of the atomic bomb, we do not realize that many civilizations have been destroyed in the past by the slower but surer process of soil wastage. It has happened in the once fertile Egypt, Assyria and China, and it could happen here. In fact, we had a sample of the dire possibilities of soil erosion in the "Dust Bowl" episode of the Southwest several years ago.

It need not happen, however. Soil conservation methods have been put into practice in many parts of the United States and found to be effective. The farmers themselves can prevent certain types of erosion by sensible agricultural practices. Where the problem is beyond one individual's control, the Soil Conservation Service assists in the organization of co-operative effort by groups of landowners. The knowledge and tools for saving the soil are available. More public initiative in attacking the problem is the big need.

Trained Reserves

ADMIRAL NIMITZ made a good point when he reported in a press conference Wednesday that the U. S. Navy could mobilize a million men immediately to meet any emergency that might arise within the next two or three years. The Army, of course, could mobilize a proportionately higher number of men in such an emergency.

This pool of trained men constitutes the soldiers and sailors who have been discharged after World War II, men who were trained for their tasks and who have not lost their skills merely by being discharged.

The fact that this huge pool of potential soldiers and sailors is available means that we need not be in any hurry to rush through a peacetime conscription law. Our regular Army and Navy, plus this pool of reservists, provides national defense in adequate depth to protect us in the immediate future. In the meantime, we can more completely study our national defense needs for the years ahead.

There is no doubt that we must maintain a strong national defense, but whether this requires peacetime conscription is something that it is still too early to determine. If it can be avoided, without jeopardizing our national security, that is the course that we shall want to take.

APPLES AND LOVE IN CITY HALL (Milwaukee Journal)

Breathless Milwaukeeans who, if they followed Mayor Bohn's official proclamation, finished celebrating "I've Always Loved You Week" only last Friday, are now given another similar task. We are asked by the mayor to join in observing International Apple Week from Oct. 26 to Nov. 2.

Is there no limit to the kind of petty endorsement that the city hall is willing to give? Instead of promoting movies and polishing apples let's have the mayor inaugurate an "I'd just love to clean up your ashes and garbage week."

Does the mayor, and do the police, believe that Milwaukee is a completely hick town? They certainly act as though they did. Imagine the city's checking automobile drivers and pedestrians for courtesy on Wisconsin av. and then rewarding the winners with free tickets to a movie as part of a commercial promotion plan!

That's what the mayor and police did. And now international apples—or applesauce week. Come, come let's grow up!

NOTHING SUITS HIM (Grand Rapids Herald)

The self-styled "curmudgeon," meaning Harold Ickes, Secretary of the Interior under Roosevelt, can't get along with anybody. Just the other day the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, along with other similar organizations all of whom pointed toward Ickes as perhaps their leader, held a convention in Chicago and endorsed Henry Wallace's attack upon the American atomic energy policy.

Ickes from the outset disapproved Wallace's attack. He was not present when his brood endorsed it in Chicago. Now Ickes has blown off. He says the action made him "Pretty d— sore." It is even talked that he may resign as executive chairman of the ill-assorted clan.

You see, Mr. Ickes finds it difficult to approve anything that anybody else does or thinks. Once upon a time he was a Republican. He jumped to the Bull Moose in 1912, then to the New Deal in 1932 and then to this new organization, whatever it may stand for or be composed of.

However, his blast at his most recent associates is indicative of what is bound to happen in such a conglomerate mass. Each member and each organization is an individualist. Therefore, it is bound to crack up. Ickes' action is but a forerunner of what is to come eventually and probably pretty soon.

HANDBOOK OF PRACTICAL ENGLISH (Scrapbook Item)

Q. Recently Mr. Truman was quoted as saying, "It seems like I have been hearing talk like that lately." My English class feels that the first "like" is not correct, but we can find no rule that verifies our opinion. Will you discuss it, please, in your common-sense way?—Mrs. T. H. M.

Answer: The rule as propounded by Dr. Etain Shrdlu, the great grammatical genius who is my main assistant and chief adviser, is: "Harumph. The copulative use of 'like' in introducing a complete clause, or an incomplete clause in which

Los Angeles—Beneath the hurrying, rushing surface, social change is occurring in this very special part of America at a rate that must be at least geometric. Bubbling like red-hot lava just under the crust, it makes the content of the political campaign sound thin and irrelevant.

First and foremost, of course, is the population increase. Since 1940, a city the size of St. Louis has been added, numerically speaking, to the Los Angeles area.

What is more, the growth is continuing. It is estimated that, for every person leaving the area, four are coming to live in the climate which has been so highly publicized. They tell you quite calmly that in another five years Southern California will have a population of 10,000,000. The present total for the entire state is put at 9,600,000.

Even if no other forces were at work, this extraordinary growth would compel social change on a wholesale scale. No one seems to want to face that fact. Los Angeles recently turned down a $44,000,000 bond issue that would have provided some of the essential facilities badly needed.

—OBSCURED BY PROSPERITY—
In this moment of high prosperity, the problems are obscured. As elsewhere, the force of unprecedented wartime spending is still predominant. Until very recently, it was difficult or impossible to hire any kind of worker, skilled or unskilled, but how all the newcomers will earn their living when the impetus of government billions for war finally ends, is a question in many minds. The peak of wartime employment has in many industries long since been reduced to a modest peacetime plateau.

The Douglas Aircraft Corporation had a payroll of 100,000 in California alone in the fall of 1943. It fell off from that high level because the company could not obtain essential workers in the fiercely competitive labor market. Today the Douglas payroll in California is about 23,000. That may expand a little but not more than a few thousand. It is fairly clear that the aircraft industry will not provide mass employment.

It will take something else, something more nearly adapted to the pre-war pattern of living. A sizable tornado named Henry J. Kaiser has a burning desire to supply that something.

But the ultimate decisions are political. During the war, Kaiser built a steel plant at Fontana, 60 miles from Los Angeles, with money borrowed from the government. It was the first plant of its kind in this part of the world.

Fontana has capacity orders well into 1948. At present high prices, the plant can break even and still pay back the government at a fixed annual rate, but Kaiser is looking ahead to the time when operations will not be capacity and when prices will drop. He wants to get his government loan scaled down, and one of his chief arguments is the fact that the United States Steel company was able to buy a government-owned steel plant at Geneva, Utah, for 20 cents on the dollar. That, says Kaiser, gives his nearest competitor an unfair advantage.

—KAISER WORKING HARD—

He and his two sons, Edgar and Henry, Jr., are working like beavers. They have acquired from the War Assets Administration part of the Douglas plant at Long Beach and they have built into it equipment to manufacture their new motor cars. With Fontana in operation, together with a new steel mill that the Kaisers want to build, you get a picture of an industrial complex such as this region has never known before.

But, to repeat, the decisions are political. This complex would rival the industrial complex of Pittsburgh and Detroit. It would cut the trans-continental railroads out of a lot of business.

That is one reason why the cry of "Government Favoritism" is being raised to checkmate Kaiser. Just as though government favors—land grants to the railroads, for example—have not underwritten a large share of American enterprise.

"The people will be here. This is a fact no one can look around. If they are not on a private payroll, then they will be on a government dole.

either the subject or predicate must be contextually supplied, is a syntactical impropriety. Harumph."

Now let's do it my way.

Rule. Do not use "like" for "as, as if, or as though."

How to apply the rule: If either "as, as if, or as though" makes sense, do not use "like." Otherwise, "like" will be correct. Let us test a few sentences.

"It seems like I have been hearing talk like that lately." It seems as if (or as though) that lately? Yes. It makes sense. "Like" therefore is incorrect. "... talk as, as if, as though that lately?" No, it does not make sense. "Talk like that," therefore is correct.

"He acted like he knew me." Correct: He acted as if (or as though) he knew me.

"He acted like a fool." Since neither "as, as if" nor "as though" makes sense, "like" is correct.

"I shall furnish my house like yours." Correct.

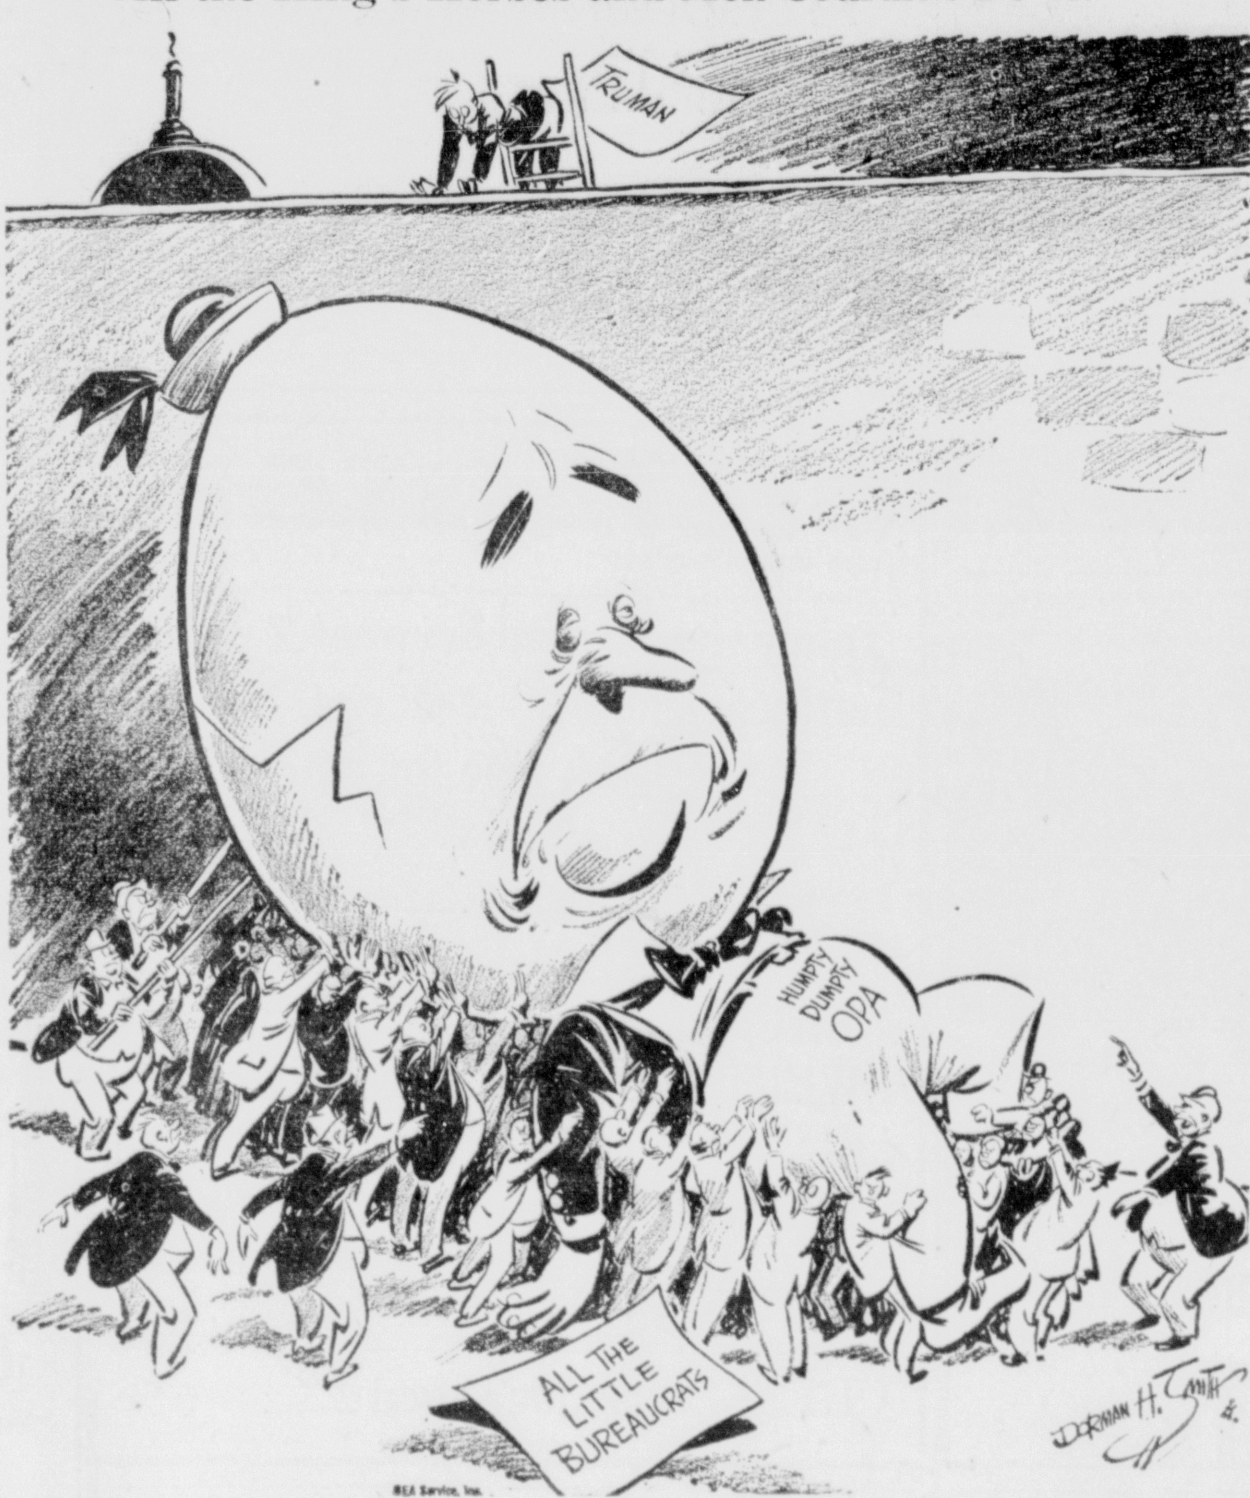

"He is very much like his father." Correct.

"She looks like her mother." Correct.

"I feel like a different person." Correct. Such forms as, "Like a duck to water; like mother used to make" are permissible except in formal speech or serious writing.

Caution: Do not use "like" for "lack." Wrong: "He lacks sufficient credits to pass." Correct: "He is lacking in intelligence." Right: "He is lacking in intelligence." Wrong: "I like two dollars of having enough money." Right: "I lack two dollars of having enough money."

WASTE FAT—Because of the meat shortage the waste fat situation is not as hopeful as it once was, but housewives are still being encouraged to save waste fats and turn them in to their meat dealer.

This waste fat saving program is ostensibly designed to provide the soap makers with fats badly needed to ease the soap shortage.

The majority of local housewives, however, are carefully saving every drop of waste fat and taking it to their grocer or meat dealer, receive a few pennies in payment—but no soap. Why wouldn't the interest of the soap industry be better served if they offered the fat-saving housewife the opportunity to purchase soap? Certainly it would encourage other women to do likewise, and the result would be more fats for more soap, and more soap to more women who are saving waste fats.

THE LARGE FAMILY—Most of the waste fat comes from the large household, and is saved by the woman who has a large family.

It is this same large family, usually with a number of children who soil a large amount of clothing, that is in need of more laundry soap. Yet often it is this same busy mother who is unable to haunt the shops to obtain soap when a carton is opened and the rush is on. She takes waste fat to the store, receives cash payment for it, and goes soapslessly (and hopelessly) homeward again.

Yet she has done far more than her non-soap-saving sisters to ease the soap shortage.

NO ENCOURAGEMENT—One housewife reported that she will never save waste fats again—or if she does she will use it to make soap for her family.

"I had saved waste fat—a few drops at a time—since early in the year," she said, "I strained it and kept it stored in the refrigerator where it took up valuable space. Then when the can was full I carried it to the store and told the clerk I had some waste fat to turn in. He not only seemed surprised, he was downright puzzled. Finally after a conference with someone else he took the can grudgingly and tossed it in a corner. What became of it I don't know, but all I received was four cents."

NEED INDUCEMENT—An Escanaba grocer who was asked if he received much waste fat to send to the fat salvage industry said he would have to check up on it. Later he reported there didn't seem to be much waste fat coming in, but said he believed there would be more when more meat became available.

When it was suggested to him that perhaps there would be more if the fat savers were induced to renew and continue their efforts by giving them the chance to purchase soap, he said that such a plan would have to be national in scope to accomplish much good.

"Besides there would be too many headaches connected with it," he added. "Suppose we had a storeful of customers and we just gave soap to the women who turned in waste fat. We'd have a riot on our hands. Or suppose a woman turned in some waste fat and we were unable to supply her with soap because we had none on hand, which is often the case."

MAY CURE ITSELF—Perhaps the removal of price control on meats and the revival of livestock shipments to market may bring the answer to the soap shortage problem. Most of the commercial animal fats come from that source, so that fat salvaged by the housewife will be unnecessary. In that event tons of valuable waste fats will go down household drains in millions of American homes, and soap will be purchased in quantities without thought of its basic ingredient.

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1936

Camil Leppla, 84, mother of W. V. Leppla, 908 First avenue south, died at her home at Medina, Wis., yesterday morning, following a lingering illness.

At a wedding ceremony performed Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the parsonage chapel of the Bethany Lutheran church, Elvira Wicklund became the bride of Hilding Martinson. Rev. Dr. C. Albert Lund performed the marriage.

Albert Dufour, 37, former Escanaba resident, passed away at General Hospital in Iron Mountain Saturday following a week's illness.

20 Years Ago—1926

Striking with tropical fury and suddenness, windstorms that at times reached hurricane intensity, today raked sections of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Three persons were killed and many injured.

Martin Engles, 1222 Stephenson avenue, fell about 30 feet from a ladder yesterday while at work at the Delta Chemical Company.

Serious injuries about the face and to the spine and legs were sustained.

John Nelson and Anna Nelson of Escanaba have filed application for a marriage license in the office of county clerk, George E. Harvey.

The Orange and Black society of the Escanaba high school will stage its annual Halloween attraction at the high school on Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

Construction on the St. Francis hospital is moving ahead rapidly to assure completion of exterior work before the winter months arrive.

You'd have a hard time explaining.

With further prodding, however, he agreed that "some inducement" should be given so that a larger amount of fat would be salvaged.

A "FAT" CHANCE—There are few women who would not salvage waste fats if they were assured that such efforts are necessary. If it is necessary the best way to encourage it would be to show the direct cause-and-effect connection by rewarding fat-savers with soap. Few would expect to receive the soap free, but they would like the opportunity to purchase it without the necessity of setting up a pup tent and sleeping in the store.

Dealers in their wisdom limit the soap purchases one to a customer, but there is no way of keeping the purchaser from going to store after store until she has a neat supply laid away. One lady visiting in Escanaba from another U. P. city, spent one day making the rounds of local shops hunting for soap. She was successful in part, and her hostess inquired sympathetically about the apparently soapsless condition in her guests home town.

"Oh my goodness," replied the guest, "I've got more than 60 packages of soap flakes in my basement now but I want to have enough on hand if the shortage becomes worse."

What do you want to know? We will answer questions on any subject not involving extended research. Legal or medical advice cannot be given. Write your question clearly, sign your name and address, and (IMPORTANT) MAIL THIS COUPON and a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SERVICE BUREAU, 1217 Thirteenth St., Washington 5, D. C., for a personal reply. Don't telephone: write as directed.

Q. Under existing regulations, how long must draftees, currently being inducted, have to serve before they may be released?

A. They are required to serve 18 months of active service unless discharged for physical disability, dependency (extreme hardship), fatherhood, or for reasons considered for the good of the service or the convenience of the Government.

Q. What battle credits did the 17th Airborne Division earn in World War II?

A. The 17th Airborne Division received battle credits as follows: Rhineland, Ardennes, Central Europe. Personnel of the division are also entitled to wear the ETO service ribbon.

Q. Would you give me a recipe for cucumber jelly?

A. Cook 2 large peeled and sliced cucumbers in ½ cup water slowly until soft. Force through strainer. Add 1½ tablespoons granulated gelatin soaked in ½ cup cold water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add 1 tablespoon vinegar, a few drops of onion juice and salt and pepper to taste. Color green, strain, and mold. Garnish with thin slices of cucumber and sliced tomato. Serve on lettuce or watercress with Russian dressing.

Q. Recently Walt Disney gathered five of his Academy Award Silly Symphonies in one full length feature. Name the five?

A. Three Little Pigs, Three Orphan Kittens, Country Cousin, Tortoise and the Hare, Flowers and Trees.

Q. How does the Constitution of the United States make sure that the Commander in Chief of the Army will always be a civilian?

A. The President is Commander in Chief, and he cannot be an Army officer because the President cannot hold another office during his term. (Lack of a provision of this sort has given the Japanese Army control of the Japanese Government.)

Q. What is "Bouncing Betsy"?

A. An air bomb containing a small secondary charge which explodes when it hits the earth. This throws the bomb a few feet in the air, where the main charge explodes with telling effect.

Q. How many times has the Constitution been amended?

A. Twenty-one.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—The amazing thing about Nazi propaganda before Pearl Harbor was the Nazis' ability to stick in certain high-placed and supposedly intelligent Americans even after Hitler had invaded Poland, overrun France and spread out over most of Europe. The Reader's Digest, largest circulating magazine in the world, was one of them.

The report on Nazi activities in the USA, prepared by John Rogge of the justice department after weeks of interviewing top Germans, shows that one editor of the Reader's Digest, Paul Palmer, was in consultation with Hans Thomsen, Hitler's personal ambassador in Washington; also with Manfred Zapp, head of the official Nazi propaganda agency, Trans-Ocean News Service.

The Rogge report, which many high politicians tried desperately to suppress, also tells how De Witt Wallace, owner and editor of the Reader's Digest, hired Lawrence Dennis, now under indictment for sedition, to do some smear pieces against Henry Wallace, then vice president of the United States.

Apparently, De Witt Wallace knew how "hot" Dennis was, because he warned him to cut out his fascistic news letter. Also, the $4,300 which the Reader's Digest paid Dennis was not paid direct, but through a front man, Pendleton Dudley, a New York public relations agent.

Dennis also said that he also had collaborated with the Reader's Digest on an article by Senator Byrd of Virginia. This, according to the Rogge report, was in late 1941, shortly before Pearl Harbor.

"The Reader's Digest not only employed Palmer and Dennis," Rogge reported to his superiors in the justice department, "but also George T. Eggleston of Scribner's Commentator, the magazine which the Nazis subsidized."

Palmer was employed as an editor of the Reader's Digest from 1939 to 1945, and when Hans Thomsen, former Nazi Ambassador in Washington, was questioned about him by Rogge, Thomsen gave the following report:

"I met Paul Palmer several times in Washington and lunched with him. He made a great impression on me and seemed to be a special admirer of Germany and wanted to engage in some sort of activity because he had some money and wanted to bring about certain relations. I don't know whether he himself was a writer, but I think he made an attempt at it."

It was in the summer of 1941, when Lawrence Dennis's activities already were looked upon with public suspicion, that the Reader's Digest surreptitiously hired him. Here is Dennis's own story of that employment, as told in the Rogge report:

"Last June, 1941, I did some work for Paul Palmer of the Reader's Digest. I did one thing for them and I got $1,500 in 1941. I had lunch with Wallace. He is the editor of the Reader's Digest. Wallace had lunch with me last spring. I don't know, February or March—I don't remember exactly when—and he said he wanted me to line up a set of articles on this quart of milk a day for everybody in the world, and freedom from want and poverty and all that sort of thing, the pros and cons, and he said he would have to be very careful not to let it be known that he was using me in any way.

"He said: 'You will have to stop your letter before it gets you in jail. They are not going to tolerate that kind of free speech now.'

"Well, in June, Palmer came to me and said that Wallace wanted to make me a proposition and he would give me $1,500 for the piece of work I did for him, and he would give me a monthly stipend for a while if I would shut the letter down, so he gave me $1,500 last June and put me on at $400 a month, which goes through this month, February (1942) and in order to keep the thing very confidential he had it done through a public relations counsel."

GROWERS TALK SPUD MARKETS

Delta Delegate Named To Potato Development Annual Meeting

Delta county potato growers meeting yesterday afternoon in the court house at Escanaba heard recommendations on spraying and other production practices, and joined in a discussion of marketing problems which confront the Michigan potato industry.

They elected Ben Gonchieski a delegate and Frank Falkies an alternate to attend the Nov. 6 annual meeting of the Potato Development Association to be held in Cadillac. The delegate will represent Delta county growers, who yesterday discussed the advantages of an advertising program to encourage the purchase of Michigan potatoes.

Clayton Ford, Cornell farmer, and a director of the Potato Development association, presided during the discussion. Ford also will attend the annual meeting at Cadillac.

It was brought out during the discussion that Michigan potatoes, because of poor grading and packaging, are trailing both Idaho and Maine potatoes in city markets. Those states have active advertising and promotion programs, supported largely by the growers.

Ford explained that the Detroit Board of Commerce and other Michigan interests are now ready to assist state potato growers in developing a demand market for their product. First of all, Ford continued, it is necessary for Michigan spud growers to evince interest in the program, and several additional members of the Potato Development Association were signed up at the close of the meeting.

Prof. Layton Nelson of the potato department, and Prof. Morofsky, entomologist, of Michigan State College, talked to the growers on the importance of growing quality potatoes. To achieve quality potatoes there were several factors outlined, including selection of seed, crop rotation, spraying, and control of diseases.

Prof. Nelson presented an illustrated lecture on the identification and control of ring rot, a rapidly-spreading disease which annually causes considerable loss in potato production.

E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent, presided at the meeting.

NEW DRIVE FOR BAND UNIFORMS

Commerce Association Seeking To Raise Rest Of Quota

A clean up committee from the Commerce Association is making the final attempt to complete the solicitation work for the high school band fund, it was announced yesterday by Claude Tobin and Tom Quinn, who are in charge of the drive.

The band fund solicitation was begun several weeks ago by a committee of the Chamber of Commerce and now is being revived as a project on which the newly organized Commerce association is concentrating. About $3,000 of the $7,500 quota has already been received by the committee, and the work of the new solicitors will be to complete the quota so that the high school band can obtain new uniforms and instruments which the school board cannot purchase.

Dearfree Company Name
Changed; New Lines
Will Be Added

The Escanaba plant of Freeman Furniture Factories, Inc., formerly known as the Dearfree company, is planning to increase its payroll to more than one hundred after the first of the year, Louis Wokosin, general superintendent announced yesterday.

The plant will start producing a living room suite, consisting of a davenport and two chairs, after Jan. 1. Production of Jenny Lind beds will also start next month. Manufacture of the two new lines will necessitate the employment of extra personnel. The present crew consists of 55 persons.

Mr. Wokosin said that the Escanaba plant produced $291,000 worth of goods in the first six months of its operations. Daily output now averages 200. Holly-wood beds, 300 hampers, and 175 maple cocktail tables in four different models. Mr. Wokosin expects that the assembling of Jenny Lind beds will average about 200 daily after operations get well under way.

Acquisition of the Marquette and Munising plants of the Munising Wood Products company by the Dearborn company, parent firm of Freeman Furniture Industries, Inc., will make more dimension stock available to the Escanaba plant, thereby making possible the stepping up of production here.

DEATH TAKES MRS. MATTSON

Local Matron Succumbs
At Home; Was Ill
Past Year

Mrs. John Mattson, resident of Escanaba for 45 years, died at her home, 532 N. 20th street, yesterday morning at 1:45 o'clock. She had been in ill health for the past year. She was born in Norpas, Finland April 6, 1878.

She was a member of the Bethany Lutheran church, Order of Runeberg, Evening Star, Morning Star and Martha Society.

Mrs. Mattson is survived by her husband; three daughters, Mrs. A. R. Madden, Minneapolis; Mrs. Aleck Hudock, Detroit; and Mrs. O. M. Hjort, Escanaba; and a son, Kenneth, of Escanaba. Two sisters, Mrs. John Ottason, Evanston, Ill.; Mrs. Elizabeth Greeland, of Woonsocket, R. I.; one grand child and one great grandchild also survives.

The body will lie in state at the Anderson funeral home beginning at noon today. Services will be held Saturday at two o'clock at the funeral home and 2:15 at the Bethany Lutheran church. Burial will be made in Lakeview cemetery.

Educator Speaks At Grand Rapids

Miss Fanny Springsteen, principal of the Stephenson high school, participated in the State Adult Education conference which was held in Grand Rapids on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 22 and 23.

Miss Springsteen discussed in detail the techniques, methods, and results obtained from the Home Builders adult education course which was given in the Stephenson high school last year.

The course was planned by Miss Springsteen and has received state wide attention.

Amendment No. 3

Bonus To World War II Veterans Proposed

BY JACK I. GREEN
Lansing (AP)—Michigan voters are asked at the November 5 general election to make a cash payment on their debt to their men and women who fought in World War II.

Their decision will be recorded on Proposal No. 3, a constitutional amendment to authorize the state to borrow $270,000,000 for a veterans' bonus.

Placed on the ballot by the legislature, the proposal calls for a bond issue to provide a bonus of $10 a month for domestic service and $15 for overseas service between Sept. 16, 1940, and June 30, 1946, with a maximum payment of $500.

The maximum grant would also be paid to the surviving husband or wife, children, dependent parents, guardian or brothers and sisters of a serviceman or woman who died or will die of service-connected causes occurring during the same five-and-a-half year period.

The bonus will be issued to men and women who served honorably in the military, naval, Marine or Coast Guard forces of the United States, who were residents of the state upon entering service and for six months before and who served in uniform at least 60 days.

Legislature Hailed Proposal
The proposal was hailed by the legislature as a fitting, if small, reward to the states' 640,000 World War II veterans. It was emphasized that the bonus was not in place of other benefits to be granted veterans by state, Federal and local governments.

State veterans groups generally have made no great public campaign to secure passage of the bonus amendment, but local groups are reported working steadily for its approval. They count on the public's gratitude to the serviceman to push it across with a sizeable majority.

Opposition to the bonus had centered less on the advisability of a bonus than on the fact the legislature has made no provision for financing it and on the argument that any financing plan probably will fall as heavily on the veteran as the non-veteran.

Some opponents contend that the $270,000,000 bond issue will not meet the cost of the bonus because it neglects interest charges, cost of administration and possibly segments of the veteran population which were not considered when the expense was computed.

Michigan's World War I bonus brought $31,395,066 to veterans but cost $55,161,794 including interest charges and administration, when the books were closed a few years ago. On the same basis, some legislators objected that a World War II bonus will cost upwards of $400,000,000.

The legislature was not to say how the measure would be financed but they talked informally of a cigarette tax, of excise taxes or an increase in the sales tax. Some state officials, however, are of the opinion that if the sales tax income continues to increase the state could finance the bonus without additional levies.

The generally accepted estimate of the annual cost of the bonus, advanced by State Treasurer D. Hale Brake, is about $17,000,000.

NATIONAL APPLE WEEK

FOR GOOD HEALTH EAT MORE APPLES

Do you know that Apples have figured frequently in Mythology and History?

If you remember your Mythology, you know that an Apple was indirectly the cause of the Trojan war.

But, probably the most famous apple tree in the world is the one under which Gen. Robert E. Lee surrendered to Gen. U. S. Grant at Appomattox, Virginia, on April 9, 1865.

This tree, under which the two Generals of the Civil War met had survived the battle of Appomattox and stood for years.

The Original tree has fallen, but on the anniversary of the day in 1911 Col. George R. Armes of the U. S. army planted a young apple tree on the exact spot.

All kinds of Apples of the very finest quality by the bushel or less on sale at Madalia's.

Sorority Pledges
15 Young Women At Ceremonies Here

Fifteen young women were pledged Wednesday evening by the field representative, Miss Miriam Ericson of Fargo, N. D., to Beta Sigma Phi, international non-academic cultural and social sorority for business, professional and young married women. They attended an informal dinner at the Delta hotel as guests of the sorority and then were pledged by Miss Ericson during a candlelight ceremony.

The new members are Miss Betty Morin, Miss Mary Loeffler, Mrs. Mary Canavan, Mrs. L. J. Farrell, Miss Catherine Coon, Mrs. Marian Fry, Mrs. Douglas Nelson, Miss Jackie Courneene, Mrs. M. E. McGeary, Miss Nancy Coon, Miss Isabel Walker, Mrs. Vernon E. Whitney, Miss Gerry Hirn, and Miss Betty King.

Officers appointed by Miss Ericson are Miss Betty Morin, president; Mrs. L. J. Farrell, vice-president; Miss Catherine Coon, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Mary Canavan, recording secretary; Miss Mary Loeffler, treasurer.

Dinner was served to the pledges at a table lighted by tall yellow candles at each side of yellow chrysanthemums displayed in a low bowl. Yellow place cards, decorated with the sorority crest, completed the scheme.

During the brief business meeting following the pledging ceremony, arrangements were made to hold meetings on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month. The first regular meeting will be on Wednesday, Nov. 14, the place to be announced later.

It is expected that the Upper Peninsula chapters will meet at some later date to plan a district organization and a series of inter-chapter activities. Other U. P. chapters are at Houghton, Marquette, Ishpeming, and Iron Mountain.

Miss Ericson is leaving for Sault Ste. Marie, Petoskey, Cheboygan, and Alpena, where she will establish chapters if there is sufficient interest.

starting at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, Oct. 26. Masquerade costumes will be worn, and prizes will be awarded those in the best, funniest and most original costume. Costumes are not required, however. A small admission fee will be charged, and refreshments will be available. Miss Geraldine Ford is general chairman of the large committee making arrangements for the event, and Lewellyn Larson is club leader.

Miss Kemppainen
Is The Bride Of
Ward P. Croswell

Autumn leaves and cut flowers decorated the altar of Central Methodist church for the recent wedding which united in marriage Miss Gertrude V. Kemppainen, daughter of Mrs. Charles Kemppainen, 1505 Washington avenue, and Ward P. Croswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward P. Croswell of Gladstone route one.

The couple exchanged vows before the Rev. Karl J. Hammar. During the service, Mrs. Wellington Hinze sang, "Because," and "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Louis Amundsen was the accompanist.

The bride's gown of white satin was fashioned with a full skirt and long sleeves. Cut-out embroidery edged the heart-shaped neckline. Her finger-tip veil, edged with lace, was fastened to a tiara which was embroidered with seed pearls, and her bouquet was of red roses and white pompon chrysanthemums.

Miss Hano Cook was the brides attendant, and Alfred Dahl performed the duties of best man. The usher was Willard Kemppainen.

Following the ceremony, 20 guests attended a supper at the home of the bridegrooms parents, Mr. and Mrs. Croswell will make their home in Escanaba. The bridegroom is a member of the Army Air Force, and Mrs. Croswell is employed by the F. W. Woolworth company.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John H. Gauthier and son, Jack, Miss Dorothy Croswell, Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Croswell, all of Detroit, and Charles F. Croswell of Denver, Colo.

C-C DIRECTORS MEET AT NOON

Program For Year Will Be Lined Up At Meeting

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce will meet this noon at the Sherman Hotel to discuss the coming year's program of activities and to approve committee appointments, it was announced yesterday.

It is expected that the chamber will be able to institute a community wide program this year, the first since the beginning war years when many of the activities and promotions for the betterment of Escanaba and Delta County had to be temporarily retarded, due to wartime restrictions and other circumstances.

A complete committee work program has been established with a view of accomplishing many of the objectives of the chamber during the coming year.

It was also pointed out that some important committees have been set up to work on a complete community and county wide program.

SCHOOLS WILL HOLD PARTIES

Costume Events Will Be Held On Thursday, Friday

Munising — The Mather high school gymnasium will be the scene of the Annual High school Halloween costume party to be held Wednesday, October 30 from 8:00 to 11:30 o'clock, and the 7-8th grade party to be held Thursday evening, October 31, from 7-10 o'clock.

Dancing will feature the entertainment of the evening for the Senior High School group with music by Campbell's orchestra.

During intermission each class is to present a "stunt". The class presenting the best skit or stunt will be awarded the banner for their home room for the year.

Awards are also to be made for the best dressed boy and best dressed girl; the most comical boy and most comical girl; the nicest dressed couple (boy and girl) and the most comical couple (boy and girl).

A new award is to be made this year. This is to be given the faculty member attending the dance in the best costume.

It is urged that all who attend come "dressed up" and everyone in the fun, the committee for arrangements said.

Refreshments of pop-do-nuts and cookies will be available during intermission and the Tri-Hi-Y club will have booths of Taffy apples and also a fish pond.

The committee in charge of the party is as follows:

Faculty: Chairman: Ernest Johnson, John Bobb, James Woodbridge and Mrs. Jenswald.

Grade School Party

The seventh and eighth grade Halloween dress-up dancing party from 7 to 10 o'clock Thursday evening will be very much like their older brothers and sisters affair the previous evening. Dancing will occupy the evening program, with skits to be presented by the seventh and eighth grades of both the Mather elementary school and Sacred Heart Parochial school.

Like the senior high school affair, prizes will be awarded for the best dressed couple, most comical couple, best costumed boy or girl and most comical boy or girl and an award for the best skit presented.

Chairman and advisor of the affair is William DeBruyn, publicity work is under the direction of Miss Frances Delaney, refreshments, Miss Olga Messenger and Mrs. Strom and tickets, Mrs. William DeBruyn.

Two Rock River Girls Featured In 4-H Magazine

Munising — Two Rock River Township girls, Alice Laakso, 17 and Marilyn McIntyre, 15, are featured in the October issue of the National 4-H club news. A full page of that issue is devoted to three pictures and a write-up on the girls' Frozen Foods Demonstration.

The demonstration has been given by the two girls, nine times before approximately 1000 people, it stated. Miss Laakso and Miss McIntyre won first place at the Camp Shaw events of Upper Peninsula competition and placed second at the State 4-H show with a score of 96.

Mrs. George McIntyre led the Rock River township club and coached the girls in their demonstration.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

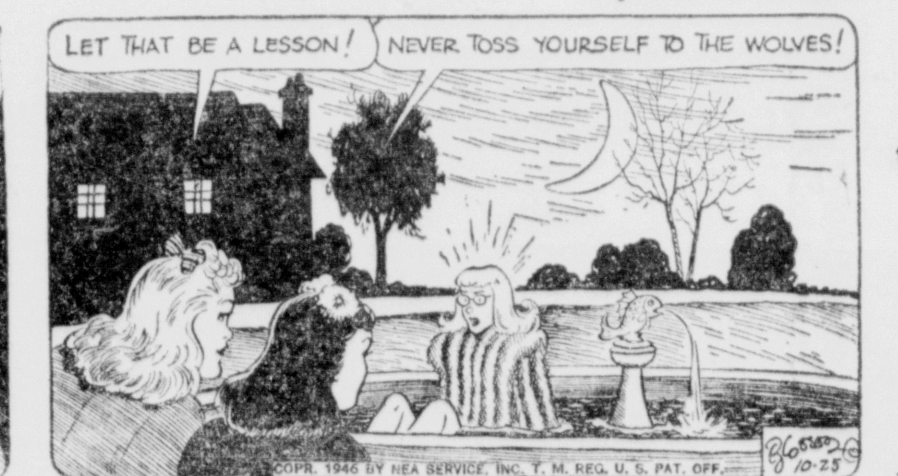

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully for millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Story Tells How Worth Company Got Its Start

An interesting history of the development of the Worth company of Stevens Point, Wis., which has decided to establish a branch plant in Escanaba, appeared in the Sporting Goods Dealer.

The article follows:
Split rings, those magic little parts that have been imported into these United States ever since fishing tackle was first manufactured, now can be obtained "American made." And the story of the Worth company, Stevens Point, Wis., which achieved this major distribution to the fishing tackle industry, strangely enough, is a simple one.

The Worth company was a newcomer to the fishing tackle manufacturing business. You see, it didn't know what every other tackle manufacturer in these United States thought he knew, namely, that split rings could not be made here and still be sold as cheaply as when they were obtained from European countries. All that the Worth company knew was that it couldn't buy split rings when it went into the open market after the war had started. Worth figured the only thing to do was to make its own split rings. And not being obstructed by any preconceived ideas that the job couldn't be done here, Worth proceeded to go ahead and make them.

Really, it wasn't as easy as all that, for Joseph Worth, founder and president of the Worth company, can tell you that split rings caused him many a headache after he made up his mind to manufacture them. But Joe Worth did have one advantage—he is an engineer of many years' experience. Joe had the northwest territory for a large furnace company, and originally furnace installation was his business and fishing his hobby. Making his home in Stevens Point, which is the front door to the fishing grounds of the North, Joe pursued his hobby at every opportunity, and like many ardent fishermen, he liked to experiment and make up lures of his own, and change others to see whether the result would be better or worse. In this manner he obtained a lot of ideas, including the one that other fishermen would be happy to be able to obtain the lures he developed as a result of his own many happy hours of fishing.

So between trips around the state making furnace installations and jaunts to the various lakes and streams in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and Canada to fish, he started to manufacture lures on a small scale. In fact, his earnings from furnace installations supported the company for quite some time before it was able to navigate on its own and before he was able to give it his full time.

The Worth company began to make flies and lures from special patterns developed by Joe Worth and then got into making a complete line of flies, lures and bugs. At the same time, manufacture started on the Worth Water Demon, a triple action spoon lure. First models of the Water Demon proved that it was a honey and a fish getter. Quickly the dies and jigs were made and everything was set for the manufacture. Here, alas, it was discovered that split rings, so necessary in a spoon lure, were not obtainable at any price. Importation had stopped because of the war and split rings became a precious commodity.

The split ring is a simple thing, so uncomplicated that the Worth company decided to make its own. Joe had been working around metals all of his life and in the meantime he had obtained the services of a good mechanic who could take an idea and work it out. Between them they began to experiment. Needless to say, they soon found out they had a tremendous problem on their hands. But once having started, these two men just wouldn't give up. They felt sure that the riddle could be solved.

They finally developed a machine that would turn out split rings at a speed that at first was considered unbelievable, but then they began having trouble keeping an edge on their dies and tools. Worth knew this was a question of heat treating so they promptly consulted a heat-treating expert, and in a short time they had the answer.

The Worth company process of making split rings naturally is a secret, and only Worth and his factory superintendent ever see the machines that turn them out. These machines are all automatic and Worth says he will be able to make and sell split rings here in the United States at a price that will meet anything that foreign competition might offer.

Worth enjoys the fishing tackle parts business so much, he no sooner got into production on split rings in 12 sizes, when he set about to make other parts. He then began to make spinner clevises in sizes 1, 2 and 4, and coil spring fasteners which are stocked in five different sizes but can be made to any length required by tackle manufacturers.

The firm is now manufacturing its line of flies and lures from non-critical materials, as permitted by government regulations. It might be added that Mrs. Worth has been active in the business right from the start, and has been Joe's constant fishing companion. Mrs. Worth is credited with a new development in fly tying, a method which makes Worth flies stand more abuse than flies have been able to take in the past.

Joe is an enthusiastic fisherman and an energetic and progressive manufacturer. He is determined to make the Worth company one of the outstanding firms in the business and has several ideas that will startle the fishing tackle industry when the present world conflict has subsided.

Lions Entertained By Rock Girl Scouts

A well received program was presented the Rock Lions and their friends by the Rock Girl Scouts, Monday evening, Oct. 21. After a roll call of the members present, King Lion Arvid Mustonen turned the meeting over to the girl scouts of Rock, who presented their program, which was very well put on.

Mrs. Wilho Kaukula is the local girl scout leader and helped make the event a success.

A guest of the evening, Mrs. John Fawcett, assistant girl scout leader in the county spoke a few words on the value of girl scout work and pointed out some of the educational factors in connection with it.

The program consisted of instrumental and vocal numbers. A candlelighting ceremony was the feature number of the evening. A light lunch was enjoyed by all present after the program. About 100 attended.

Surplus Army Shoe Paces Are Available

Upper Peninsula residents shouldn't have cold feet this winter.

According to the Minneapolis office of War Assets Administration, surplus army shoe paces, designed to minimize "trench-foot" casualties during the war, will be available soon to qualified buyers in this area.

The shoe paces have a rubber foot and a two-piece water-proof leather top with hooks and eyelets. The soles and heels are of non-skid corrugated rubber.

The sizes available range from number 6 narrow to 14 wide, and minimum purchase lots of 232 pairs give an assortment of mainly popular sizes.

Starting October 25, the sale will be open to all buyers. November 12 is the last day of the sale.

To Circuit Court

For allegedly leaving her two small children, ages two and four, in a potato patch at night while she and her male companion were in the house, Mrs. Genevieve Kaiser of Hiawatha township, is facing trial in circuit court, charged with abandonment of a minor child. Her companion, Donald Dixon, is also facing trial in circuit court charged with contributing to the abandonment of a minor child. Both are being held in the custody of the court, being unable to raise bond, set at $500 each by Judge W. G. Stephens following their arraignment.

The two were arrested Tuesday by state troopers of the local station after neighbors had complained that they had found the children, late at night, in the potato patch at the Kaiser home and that the children were hungry and insufficiently clad.

Brought before Judge Stephens, the two waived preliminary hearing, and were bound over to circuit court. The children were turned over to the custody of Mrs. Lottie Weber, county agent.

The husband of the Kaiser woman, with whom she has been estranged for some time, has given notice that he is willing to contribute to the care of his children on condition that the children be taken away from the mother.

SCHOOLCRAFT COUNTY
ROAD COMMISSIONDICK DEMARS
TOP GROWER

Raises 618 Bushels Of Spuds Per Acre To Cop 4-H Honors

Richard Demars, 14 years old and small for his age, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walfred Demars, is probably due for honors greater than the local potato growers association can give him.

The potatoes he submitted in the 4-H Club division of the Schoolcraft County Potato Show last Wednesday were not only tops in that division, but their quality was on a par with any at the show and his yield of 618 bushels of potatoes per acre was the highest in the county.

For his winning of 4-H honors, Richard was presented with a cup, the second he has won, similar honors being accorded him last year. His showing this year, however, was better, both as to quality and yield.

In this contest, the samples displayed were U. S. No. 1. They were not hand picked for uniformity of size.

Following are the ratings in points, bushels per acre and prize accorded the five highest in this division:

Prize	Pts.	Bu.	Award
First,			Trophy
Richard Demars	600	618
Second,
Donald Tennant	584	566.8
Third,
John Oberg	473	487.7	4.00
Fourth,
James Neadow	449	403.2	3.00
Fifth, Gene and	442	336.3	2.00
Gerome Allen

In the 4-H division of 32 selected tubers Donald Tennant won first prize of $5; and Richard Demars second prize of $4.

Potato Show Had Fewer Exhibits But Quality Was By Far The Best

The Third Annual Schoolcraft County Potato Show, held in Manistique Wednesday had fewer exhibits on display than the first two held by the local growers association, but the quality of the exhibits and the records made by the growers have far exceeded any local effort in the past, Layton Nelson, who has served as judge at all three shows told those present at the show banquet Wednesday evening.

And were it not for the early frost of September 2, which caused considerable damage, the yield in Schoolcraft county would have been much greater, the judge stated.

In spite of this handicap, he said, the county yield per acre would be in excess of the state average of 110 bushels per acre.

18 Growers Entered
Eighteen growers entered samples at the show.

In the Class I Tablestock division, with 60 pound samples of U. S. No. 1 stock entered, the following awards were made: First, Ray Hulla, $5; second, William Strassler, $4; next four, John Hartman, Aldin Wolfe, Garland Wolfe and Leland Pauley, $3 each; next four prizes, Joe Hardy, John Tanguay, Walter Peterson and Arthur Graham.

In the Class II Certified Seed division (128 potatoes) the awards were: James Wieland, first, $8; Otto Winkle, second, $6; Maynard Blandford, third, $5; William Wieland, fourth, $4.

In the Open Class (32 tubers) James Wieland was awarded first of $4; Russell Tennant, second, $3; William Wieland, third, $2; and $1 each to Otto Winkle, Henry McGahan and Leland Pauley.

Grade and Yield
In the grade and yield per acre contest the following results were announced:

Prize Name	Pts. Bu. Award
First, Otto Winkle	1657 541.92 $50
Second, William Wieland	1507 480.48 $35
Third, Russell Tennant	1494 407.66 $25

In the tablestock growers contest the following results were announced:

Prize Name	Pts. Bu. Award
First, John Hartman	1591 425.05 $50
Second, Henry McGahan	1545 441.27 $35
Third, Leland Pauley	1509 477 $25
Fourth, William Strassler	1467 419.31 $15

In the grading contest in which local growers competed Leland Pauley won highest rating with a score of 86; William Strassler, Joe Haindl and Walter Richards, were tied for second with an 82 score.

At the banquet at the high school gymnasium, held Wednesday evening, James Wieland presided as chairman, O. W. Oberg served as toastmaster, Ed Jewell as leader of the community singing, Gorsche's orchestra provided the dinner music and the Methodist ladies the dinner.

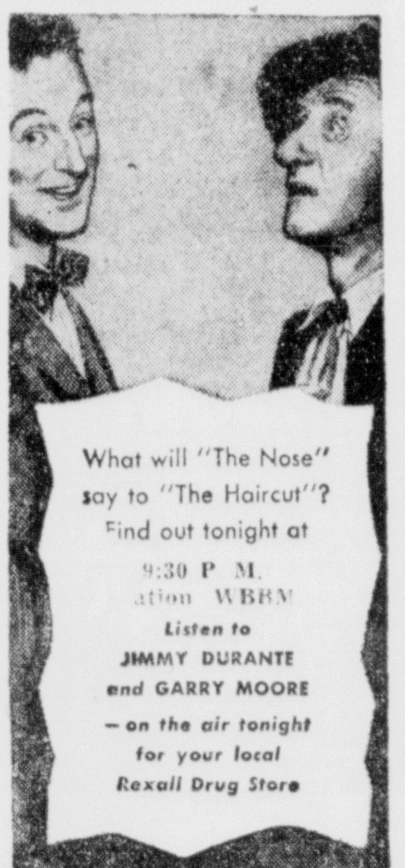

J. G. Hayes provided hilarious entertainment with his humorous lecture on "The Paper Cow."

Paul Nessman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nessman, has been transferred from Percy Jones hospital, Battle Creek, to Walter Reed General hospital, Washington, D. C.

FINE PROGRAM FOR G-S MEET

Noted Youth Guidance Worker To Speak Saturday

An excellent program has been arranged for the Senior Girl Scout conference to be held here Saturday and Sunday under the sponsorship of Troop 8 of this city led by Mrs. O. S. Hult.

The conference is the first of its type attempted. About 75 girls from Garden, Manistique, Nahma, Escanaba and Gladstone are expected to attend.

Miss Mary Helen Keating of Milwaukee, formerly of Munising, prominent in girls' work, will speak on Youth Guidance at the afternoon session Saturday.

Discussion groups will be led by John Logan, Mrs. Seymour Lewis, Mrs. John Norton Jr., city, and Miss Mary Krutina of Nahma.

Luncheon on Saturday noon will be served by the Dorcas society in the parlors of the First Lutheran church.

In the evening a dance will be held at the Gladstone high school gymnasium for which the GHS Swingers will play. Invitations to the party have been issued.

Sunday morning the Girl Scouts will attend church in bodies, the Catholic girls going to the high mass at 10 o'clock at All Saints' church while the Protestant girls will attend morning worship at 10:30 o'clock at the First Lutheran church.

Miss Keating, the principal conference speaker, is dean of girls at Whitefish Bay high school in Milwaukee. She previously did the same type of work at South Milwaukee.

Miss Keating started working in this field in the Upper Peninsula and was at Munising when she organized the first girls' club in the U. P.

She since has served as vice president of the Wisconsin State Deans association and of the Wisconsin Vocational and Educational Guidance association.

Miss Keating has a master's degree in guidance from Northwestern University and has done graduate work in this field at the Universities of Minnesota and Wisconsin.

She will speak at 2:15 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

Obituary

ALBERT G. JARDIS
The body of Albert G. Jardis, 26, is arriving from Jersey City Saturday and will be removed to the Alto Funeral Home where it will rest in state from Sunday until the hour of last rites.

Funeral services will be conducted at a requiem mass Monday morning at 9 o'clock at All Saints' Catholic church officiated by the Rev. Fr. Joseph Schaul. Burial will be in the Gardens of Rest.

SEATS ALL OUT AT ANN ARBOR

Michigan Risks Big Nine Title Hopes Saturday Against Illinois

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 24 (AP)—For the second time this month a throng of 85,938 grid fans will jam Michigan Stadium to capacity this Saturday to watch the Wolverines risk their Big Nine football title hopes against up-and-coming Illinois.

Michigan ticket officials announced this afternoon that the last seat had been sold and that the crowd would equal the attendance at Michigan's game with Army two weeks ago.

Because the practice of erecting temporary seats along the sidelines has been abandoned the capacity figure now falls 470 short of the stadium record of 86,408 fans who watched Michigan and Notre Dame play in 1943.

As the Illini prepared to board a train at Champaign tonight, their plane plans cancelled because of a pilot's strike, the Wolverines staged their last hard drill for the important battle, specifying defense against the running of trackster Claude (Buddy) Young and Julie Rykovich and the passing of former Tulsa star Perry Moss.

The Wolverines, with the return of Guard George Burg who was hurt in the Army game two weeks ago, will be at full strength for the Illinois tussle, 32nd in a series dating back to 1898. Michigan has won 22 of the 31 previous meetings and lost nine.

Michigan, one of the Big Nine's two unbeaten teams, must regain its form of the Army game two weeks ago to successfully turn back Illinois' challenge, Coach H. O. Fritz Crisler warned the squad, pointing out that the Wolverines were ragged in their 14 to 14 tie last Saturday with Northwestern.

Illinois, big and fast, will present a line averaging 204 pounds a man and Michigan will have to be sharper in its timing and blocking to improve on the 30 yards in rushing advances the Wolverines netted against a stout Northwestern line.

Michigan can stake undisputed claim to the Big Nine championship by sweeping its remaining four conference games but a setback at the hands of Illinois would leave unbeaten Northwestern in the driver's seat and project the once-beaten Illini right into the title picture.

LaMotta Tackles Bell In Detroit

Detroit, Oct. 24 (AP)—Sidetracked at least until next summer in his hopes for a shot at Tony Zale's NBA middleweight crown, Jake LaMotta of New York, the Bronx brawler who built most of his boxing reputation in Detroit, tackles O'Neill Bell here tomorrow in the 10-round main event of an Olympia fight card.

Matchmaker Nick Londres, pointing to the brisk advance sale of tickets, anticipated a crowd of more than 12,000 fans would watch the struggle. Bell, Detroit's two-fisted puncher looking for recognition in the middleweight bracket, has been working out here for more than two weeks for his important meeting with Lamotta, Jake, who does his training at home, arrived yesterday with the terse statement, "I'm in shape."

Lamotta, as usual in his Detroit appearances, was a strong favorite.

The Upper Peninsula football season draws near its conclusion this week end with many teams winding up their schedules in games Friday and Saturday. A few teams, undefeated Stambaugh among them, have already packed their equipment away. Although the season will not formally close until Nov. 11, when Menominee and Marinette play their annual battle, all the evidence to decide the U. P. championship will be in on Nov. 2.

The Gladstone Braves put their undefeated record on the line this afternoon in a game with the Stephenson Eagles at Gladstone. The game shapes up as a breather for the Braves and after the first stringers run up a couple or three touchdowns lead, it is probable that Coach Cappy Kell will rush in the reserves. At least it isn't likely that the Braves will take any unnecessary chances on injuring the star-studded regulars, just a week before the all important Escanaba game. On this basis, the probable score: Gladstone 27, Stephenson 0.

Iron Mountain will run into a stiff fight at Iron River tonight and Kopsenske, the Redskins' ace ball totter, will cause some trouble but the Mountaineers will come out on top, 20-7. Negaunee improves its scoring average at the expense of L'Anse, the Miners winning handily, 33-0. That takes care of the Friday games and brings us up to the busy Saturday schedule, which includes some of the seasons finest rivalries.

If Frosty Parish, Marinette's talented passer, is in shape for an unrestrained action against the Eskymos Saturday, Marinette will trip Escanaba, 20 to 13. If Parish is sidelined with the ankle injury that he sustained last Saturday against Norway, look for the seasons major upset: Escanaba 13, Marinette 7. You may not think one man could make that much difference, but its true, especially against the Eskymos who haven't looked too sharp on pass defense this season. The Marines may have other passers, but they have only one Parish.

The St. Joseph Trojans play at Munising Saturday in the annual battle for the Little Brown Jug. The Trojans held the crockery for the past two years and if the game had been played in the first half of the season, St. Joseph would have kept it for another year. The Trojans are bumping into the Mustangs now, however, when the Mathers are red hot and it looks like: Munising 14, St. Joseph 6.

Menominee Maroons expect trouble at the Soo Saturday but the fact that they are looking for it will help them to a 19-7 victory. Houghton rocks Hancock again, 20-6. Norway dumps Kingsford, 13-0. Wakefield links DePauw, 19-0. Lourdes trips Peshigo, 12-7. Hibbing dumps the crippled Ironwood Red Devils, 20-7. By every evidence in the book, Marquette is supposed to take Manistique handily but we like to take a flier on a long shot once in awhile and here it is: Manistique 7, Marquette 6.

CHUCK DRESSEN QUILTS DODGERS

Baseball Insiders Say He Will Be Wankee Pilot Or Coach

BY GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Oct. 24. (AP)—It appeared certain tonight that the New York Yankees had acquired themselves either a manager or a coach with the announcement by Charles (Chuck) Dessen that he had resigned as coach of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The little fellow who has served as Manager Leo Durocher's right-hand man since 1939 said his adieu to President Branch Rickey today after more than an hour's conference in the latter's office.

Dessen did not say where he was going, but remarked he had a "good job" waiting for him. He might, as far as baseball's insiders were concerned, have added "—with my old friend Larry MacPhail."

The only question in the minds of most observers was whether President MacPhail of the Yanks was offering Dessen the big job as manager or merely was prepared to pay him a handsome salary to assist the man who eventually is given the pilot's post.

Baseball men have not hesitated to give Dessen a large share of the credit for Durocher's success with the Dodgers. They consider him one of the brainiest of all the coaches, and MacPhail's admiration of Dessen in that capacity is second to none. It was felt that the Yankee boss might consider Dessen more valuable as a coach than he would be if saddled with a manager's responsibilities.

On the other hand, if Dessen was not to get the top job it remained difficult to find a candidate with a more logical claim. Durocher is believed to be making entirely too much money at Brooklyn—around $60,000 a year—to consider a change.

MacPhail has been ill for several days and has declined to take any part in the conjecture as to who will get the job. At least a score of candidates have been nominated in recent weeks, but so far as was known tonight, none of them actually had heard MacPhail's voice on the phone.

Bucky Harris, at present a member of the Yankee front office, denied flatly last night a report that he had accepted the manager's post.

South Sea Termites Create Problem For Homeless Tahitians

Papeete, Tahiti, (P)—The housing shortage extends even to this famous South Sea isle. Tahitians blame cheap lumber imported in recent years. Termites and decay have damaged it so badly that old houses are being pulled down to obtain materials to repair newer ones.

KICKOFF SET FOR 2:30 P. M.

Gladstone Heavy Favorites Despite Casualties

Gladstone, Mich.—The Stephenson Eagles come to Gladstone today to battle the undefeated and untied Braves of Gladstone high school at Marble Athletic Field. The opening kickoff is set for 2:30 o'clock.

While the Eagles are not expected to furnish considerable opposition to the Braves, Coach Elton Kell is taking nothing for granted and is far from optimistic outwardly for the center of his line is riddled by injuries.

Capt. Eugene Timmer and Rudy Jugo, star tackles, center Red Butler and fullback Cliff Gillis are among the casualties. Jugo definitely will not see action this afternoon.

Kell has announced his starting lineup as Johnson and Thivierge, guards; Kuchon and Hart, tackles; Rose and Sarasin, guards; Williamson, center; Bizeau, quarterback; LeGault, left half; Lessard, right half and Young will be at fullback.

All-Star Baseball Pick Dominated By Series Performers

BY JOE REICHLER

New York, Oct. 24 (AP)—World Series performers dominated the 1946 major league all-star team chosen for the Associated Press by 122 baseball writers on the big league circuit.

Seven of the 10 players selected were members either of the Boston Red Sox or St. Louis Cardinals.

The Red Sox were represented by four men; the Cards ranked next with three, and there was one each from Detroit, Cleveland and the New York Yankees, giving the American league a 7-3 majority.

Voting on the players was started before the World Series but was not completed until late yesterday. About half the tallies arrived since the series ended.

Of the 10 men selected, including the pitchers, eight were former servicemen. All except pitcher Bob Feller and catcher Aaron Robinson started this past season fresh from the service. Feller and Robinson rejoined their baseball mates in the middle of the 1945 season.

The all-star team: Outfielders—Ted Williams and Dom Dimaggio, Red Sox; Enos Slaughter, Cardinals.

First base—Stan Musial, Cardinals. Second base—Bobby Doerr, Red Sox.

Third base—George Kurowski, Cardinals. Shortstop—Johnny Pesky, Red Sox.

Catcher—Aaron Robinson, Yankees. Pitchers—Hal Newhouse, Tigers and Bob Feller, Indians.

No player was chosen unanimously. But Ted Williams was named in all but two of the 122 ballots. Bobby Doerr ranked next with 117 votes for second base.

Hal Newhouse topped the pitchers with 102 votes, 17 more than Feller, who received the other hurling spot. Stan Musial of the Cardinals received the fourth highest number of votes. He got 96 votes—81 for first base, the rest for center and right fields.

The closest race was for third base, with Kurowski nosing out George Kell of the Tigers 57 to 55. The widest divergence of opinion involved the receivers, nine receiving support. Robinson won, with only 52 votes.

Greenberg Left Out The smallest number acquired by any winner went to Pesky, whose 49 votes against him the shortstop berth. Lou Boudreau of the Indians was next with 32, followed by Marty Marion of the Cards, with 27, and Pee Wee Reese of the Brooklyn Dodgers with 13.

SAPLING GROWS IN STAGG FIELD

Seven outfielders vied for the right field post. Brooklyn's Dixie Walker offered Slaughter the most opposition. Walker's 45 votes were 14 short of Enos' total.

The biggest surprise was the failure of Hank Greenberg to receive a single vote. The Tiger first baseman, who led the American league in home runs and runs batted in, got off to a slow start and finished strong, but the great all-around work of Musial overshadowed that of all other first sackers. Mickey Vernon, Washington's stylish first base guard, got 24 votes to rate second.

Newhouse and Feller easily dominated the hurlers. Only Dave (Boo) Ferriss of the Red Sox, Howie Pollet of the Cards and Johnny Sain, 20-game winner of the Boston Braves, received mention by the writers. Ferriss ranked third with 38 votes. Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, who won three Series, got no votes.

The team as a whole, not including the pitchers, batted .318 with four players driving in more than 100 runs apiece. The top batter was Musial, who led the National league batters with 365. Newhouse and Feller won 26 games each to total 52 victories against only 24 defeats.

Only one writer, W. J. Morse, sports editor of the Boston Christian Science Monitor, agreed completely with the consensus.

College of Pacific's game with powerful Northwestern at Evanston Saturday is merely a side-light to a sentimental journey for Stagg, who spent his 57th collegiate football team here for "just one more appearance" at the scene of his greatest triumphs.

But there was no visible sentiment as the still-erect, trim-shouldered Stagg ordered his Pacific squad through a snappy two-hour drill. He scarcely glanced from his coaching duties at the stands which once reverberated with cheers for his Wally Eckersall, Hugo Bezdek, Wally Steffen, John Schommer, Fritz Crisler, Five-Yards McCarthy and other Maroon immortals.

Stagg refused photographers who wanted him to pose in a grandstand shabby with disuse since Chicago dropped football in 1939, but he willingly scooped up a ball and ran through the goalposts for one picture.

He admitted he spotted the little tree in the stands, but quipped "That's probably from the atom bomb underneath the stands." (Chicago scientists conducted early atom bomb experiments there.)

Stagg again reiterated his denial of a report he planned to retire this year. "I expect to keep coaching as long as I am able," he said, "and right now I'm in good health."
